Walking Holidays UK

England

South Shropshire is one of the most beautiful counties in Britain, boasting a range of undulating hills and valleys far from today's crowded cities. It is probably one of today's best kept secrets for walkers, as you'll be guaranteed the opportunity to escape the hustle and bustle of everyday life.

Manor Adventure is conveniently located in the Corvedale between the Wenlock Edge and the historic market town of Ludlow, famous for its 11th Century castle and its gourmet restaurants. The area is totally unspoilt and as yet does not attract many tourists! Manor Adventure offers guided walks, which tend to be around 10-12 miles in length. The variety is enormous, ranging from gentle flat country walks to walks in the Shropshire Hills or town walks in Ludlow and Shrewsbury. We aim to visit and see as many places of interest as possible.

Wales

Mid Wales has one of the most idyllic countrysides in Britain. With its beautiful clean air and low light pollution makes for the most spectacular scenery of forests, mountains, hidden valleys and many conservation sites that surround Llanwrtyd Wells, providing a habitat for many rare species of flora and fauna.

With the successful repopulation of the Red Kite following its near extinction in this area, you will be certain to see them soaring wild and free in the skies above.

For the more restful, the mountains, valleys and surrounding villages can be explored by a scenic car tour or using the Heart of Wales railway line.

There are many old Roman roads, ancient standing stones, tiny chapels and churches to discover as well as small spa towns and local farmers market town.

Abernant Lake Hotel is located in Llanwrtyd Wells, once a spa town following the discovery of waters with amazing healing properties in 1732. It sits astride the River Irfon and the A483 between Llandovery and Builth Wells well known for the Royal Welsh Agricultural Show which takes place in July.

Scotland

The lowlands of Scotland afford some of the best walking terrain in the British Isles. The rolling hills around Lockerbie are the perfect place to explore this majestic country by foot.

All around is the evidence of the turbulent historic border between England and Scotland as two nations fought over disputed territory. Footpaths are well marked and there is an excellent choice of easy strolls as well as more challenging terrain, all within a few miles of our well-equipped centre at Lockerbie Manor.

Walking Holidays UK

Most Manor Adventure walking guides have a minimum BELA qualification and have a First Aid qualification. The pace and terrain is geared to suit the abilities within the group. We can supply guidance packs for experienced walkers wishing to go off and explore the beautiful countryside without the aid of the Manor Adventure Guides. However, we recommend that inexperienced walkers stay within our designated walking groups.

- Small personalised groups of no more than 8.
- If the walk does not start or end at our centres, transport will be provided free of charge.
- Wednesday is a free day with the option to participate in the activities that are being offered at the activity centre.
- Packed lunches are provided but we will endeavour to stop at a pub for lunch. (Optional extra).
- If this is your first walking holiday it is worth budgeting in a good pair of walking boots (worn in before arrival), a small rucksack and waterproof trousers and jacket. (Boots and cagoules can be hired for only £15 per week).

Carefree Holidays

While it is true that the main thing we offer is activity holidays, adults who wish to join their family but do not want to participate in any of the activities can choose our Carefree Holiday option. This family holiday type allows you to relax and enjoy the surroundings and local area, letting the children do all the running around and being adventurous. There are plenty of things to see and do on our carefree holidays, so come along and let us look after the children, leaving you free to enjoy some relaxation.

England

At our centre in the countryside of South Shropshire you are welcome to relax by our heated outdoor swimming pool, or visit the outstanding variety of tourist attractions Shropshire has to offer such as Stokesay Castle, the charming villages of Much Wenlock and Ludlow, or sample some of the excellent pubs the area boasts. Or of course, you can simply do as little as possible.

Wales

At our Abernant Lake Hotel centre in Llanwrtyd Wells, Wales you can enjoy the atmosphere of the centre, once famous as a spa town for the health giving benefits of the local spring water. Watch your family participate in the activities or explore the local area. The choice is yours.

Scotland

Lockerbie Manor, our centre in Scotland has a proud history, with links to the Marquis of Queensberry and Oscar Wilde. The Manor house still looks as it did in the eighteenth century and the extensive grounds are perfect for a relaxing stay. Enjoy the tranquil fields and woodland, local forests, or the beauty of Castle Loch just a short distance from our centre.
